

STUDENT DEFENSE · EDUCATION LAW · LITIGATION

Your school has a lawyer. You should too.

— and you'd best believe they use them.

I'm Zachary Gaynor — I give students and families a candid assessment when an academic, disciplinary, or Title IX matter puts a degree or record at risk. Most matters resolve quietly, inside the school's own process. When they don't, I'm ready for court — and schools know it: it's the first thing they check when a lawyer reaches out.

TIME-SENSITIVE
APPEAL WINDOWS RUN IN DAYS

WHAT I TAKE TO COURT — ACTIVE CASES IN FEDERAL COURT
· MORE BEING FILED

DUE PROCESS

Your school ignores its own handbook or skips a fair hearing. I sue to enforce the process you were promised.

PROFESSIONAL DISMISSAL

A med, nursing, pharmacy, or law student faces removal late in the program. I fight to stop the dismissal while you're still enrolled.

TITLE IX

A finding rests on a flawed investigation or denied cross-examination. I challenge it in federal court.

$504 · ADA

Accommodations are denied or ignored and a disability-related failure follows. I bring discrimination and contract claims.

Not every case belongs in court. I'll tell you candidly whether litigation, an appeal, or a quieter resolution fits yours — and at the very least, you'll finally see what went wrong.

HOW IT WORKS · THE FULL READ + GAME PLAN — $1,000
FLAT

- 1 Sign, then send everything
Scope and fee in a written agreement first. Then the whole file — and I confirm it's complete before I start.
- 2 The Full Read
I read every page against the school's own written rules — same-day to 2–3 business days.
- 3 The Game Plan meeting
In person, video, or phone — no time limit. Straight answers and exactly what to do next, in order.
- 4 Seven days of follow-up
Email questions included. Sustained advocacy only if your matter actually needs it — and I'll say which.

BEFORE YOU DO ANYTHING

Don't respond, sign, or appeal blind. The people across the table do this for a living — don't face them alone.

We don't fear litigation.

READY TO FILE FOR STUDENTS' RIGHTS

You reach the lawyer on your matter — not an intake queue.
